

HEROES HONORED

Returned District Soldiers Complimented by a Banquet.

THE LOCAL LODGE OF ELKS THE HOST

Gen. Miles and Others Present as Invited Guests.

ELOQUENT SPEECHES MADE

In appreciation of the honor reflected on the order through the patriotism and deeds of valor of their brothers, the Washington Lodge of Elks last night gave a brilliant banquet at Rauscher's on Connecticut avenue. Many distinguished guests representative of the civil and military life of Washington gathered around the merry board to pay homage to Major Emmet Urell, commanding the 1st Battalion of the 1st District of Columbia Regiment; Major Richard A. O'Brien, commanding the 3rd Battalion of the same regiment; Capt. Charles L. Beatty of Philadelphia Cavalry, Troop A; Corporal Samuel A. Boyle, Jr., and Richard R. Burr of the United States navy, all of whom served in the war with Spain. Unfortunately the last three brothers were unable to be present, as they are still in Uncle Sam's service and are absent at their posts of duty. Their health was toasted at 11 o'clock, a time at all Elks dinners when absent brothers are remembered.

Maj. R. A. O'Brien.

The banquet was a most elaborate affair throughout, patriotism and good fellowship blending to make the evening most enjoyable. The decorations were profuse, red, white and blue mingling in the general scheme. American history, flags, and models of miniature battle ships, and other heads suggested the spirit of the gathering.

An Impromptu Reception.

Majors Urell and O'Brien arrived early in the evening and held an impromptu reception in the parlors of the mansion, where they were greeted by the many invited guests and brother Elks. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the United States army, was greeted with rounds of applause and was one of the heroes of the occasion. The guests finally entered the dining hall, where covers were laid for the guests. A superb menu and a pretty bouillabaisse and a menu, to which was attached a piece of the block house at San Juan as a souvenir. The wood was brought to this country by Major O'Brien. The Carroll Institute Orchestra, stationed in an alcove, rendered patriotic and classic music during the dinner. A menu replete with the delicacies of the season and fine old wines were served. While the banquet was at its height the 11 o'clock hour brought the guests to their feet in silent order, when Chairman Joseph A. Burkhardt called for a toast to the absent brothers. Mr. Ed. Hay sang "Auld Lang Syne," the dinner joining heartily in the chorus.

What all the good things had been disposed of and cigars were lighted. Mr. Burkhardt called for a welcome to the guests. He spoke of the origin and achievements of the Spanish-American war, and said that last night's assemblage should be as it was, an occasion of smiles, joy, love, happiness, fraternity and good fellowship. He continued:

"Honored guests and brothers, on behalf of the Washington Lodge, No. 15, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, I extend to you and each of you a cordial and hearty welcome, and for the same behalf, I congratulate you, Brothers Urell and O'Brien, on having successfully weathered a severe campaign, and on returning to our midst comparatively well and thoroughly happy."

"To you, Brother Urell, exalted ruler, soldier by birth, hero of two wars, the grand and manly the 1st District Regiment, proud possessor of the medal of honor conferred by the Congress of the United States, which the man doesn't live who would dare to take the medal for a military record equalled by few and excelled by none."

"We thank you sincerely for assisting in maintaining the honor and dignity of the Elks, as well as that of our country, and to you, Brother O'Brien, we are indebted for the honor we feel resulting from your record, and for the free from stain as that of any soldier. We thank you also for the service you have rendered our country and our order."

"I should be pleased also to personally welcome our other heroes, Brother Capt. Beatty, Brother Corporal Boyle and Brother Burr, but their absence prevents me, and they will have to accept the will for the deed."

"Let us then make merry, let the banquet hall ring with the hearty words of our orators, let us extend to each other the glad and ready hand of fraternity and let us make this night a night of joy and gladness."

Mr. Urell, in reply, said that he felt honored and proud to be present at the banquet, and that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends.

Mr. O'Brien, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Beatty, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Boyle, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Burr, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Hay, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Burkhardt, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Urell, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. O'Brien, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Beatty, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Boyle, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

Mr. Burr, in reply, said that he was glad to see the Elks and their friends, and that he was proud to be present at the banquet.

and reported among the dead in the official bulletins of that engagement. There he sits, the liveliest corpse that I have ever known. What about Maj. O'Brien? A most efficient, strict disciplinarian in military matters, who elevated the standing of our District militia by his thorough knowledge of the requirements of the service, and when actual war was declared he unhesitatingly offered his services in response to his country's call. Surrounded by the comforts of home life, with a lovely wife and five handsome, interesting children to make that home the happiest place on earth to him, he buckles on his armor and marches to the front in command of a gallant battalion, who had the most implicit confidence in him. Do not these facts exemplify loyalty, courage and bravery of the highest type? And our beloved Capt. Charles Beatty, still in the service, awaiting orders, and if opportunity offers will prove himself a gallant soldier and make a splendid record. And the met behind the guns, Boyle and Burr, soldier and sailor, alike ready and eager to make any sacrifice to maintain their country's honor and defend the flag."

Maj. R. A. O'Brien.

Rev. H. W. Ennis.

The first toast proposed was "America—Our Country! In Her Intercourse With Foreign Nations May She Be Right; But Our Country, Right or Wrong." The toast was responded to by Rev. Howard Wilbur Ennis, who spoke in an exceedingly happy vein, interspersing his remarks with timely and highly enjoyable stories.

Mr. Simon Wolf responded to the next toast proposed—"Washington, the American Capital—Thou Art the New World's Pilgrim Shrine; Art, Science, Letters, All Art, Thine." Mr. Wolf eloquently declared that every American of the country should be proud of the capital of his nation, which he said, was destined to be the unrivaled capital of a great, free and happy nation. Mr. Wolf paid high tribute to the "French engineer, L'Enfant, who planned the city, and the American who carried out the plans, Alex. R. Shepherd," and appealed for the establishment of monuments of perpetuation to their memories.

"The Elks—Best People on Earth," was the toast responded to by Mr. Ed. Hay, who was happy as usual in his remarks.

Maj. Gen. N. E. Miles.

Mr. Hay was followed by Gen. Nelson A. Miles, responding to the toast, "Our Heroes." The general paid a beautiful tribute to the American soldier, declaring no pen of a writer nor brush of a painter could do justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

justice to the American soldier whose loyalty and zeal for his country were beyond mortal description. "What are the Elks?" asked Gen. Miles. "I have followed them across the plains and through the forests, but I have never before known what the Elks were. But you are most fortunate in securing such an animal in your midst. A more magnificent creature could not have been found. He does not need to destroy life to live; he fears nothing, and boys all that is grand and pure, and I say again that I should like to know more about the Elks. Your spirit is grand and noble, and the sentiment that I have heard

Hecht's Greater Stores.

Hecht's Greater Stores.

Hecht's Greater Stores.

Hecht's Greater Stores.

Hecht's Greater Stores.

Offerings of "sample" suits and overcoats that is the supreme clothing event of the period.

We have succeeded in securing from six of the largest clothing manufacturers in the country all of their "sample" suits and overcoats, which were used by their salesmen on the road—and which having served their purpose they sold to us at a mere nominal figure.

They are the very acme of tailoring excellence—perfect examples of the ready-to-wear clothing man's art—garments that were necessarily created with all the thoroughness of care possible, and upon which depended many a large order from the different retailers throughout the country. Think of buying such desirable garments at little over what it cost to make them—at prices that you'd pay for the most inferior qualities somewhere else. Such is what we offer you. They go on sale Saturday morning—every suit and overcoat in the lot. Come and look over the assortment—see for yourself that we haven't exaggerated the importance of the values one whit.

$7.50—for men's $12 fancy cheviot suits.
$10—for men's splendid $11 cassimere suits.
$15—for $15 blue serge suits.
$16—for $16 unfinished serge suits.
$17—for $17 heavy worsted suits.
$18—for $18 heavy worsted suits.
$19—for $19 heavy worsted suits.
$20—for $20 heavy worsted suits.
$21—for $21 heavy worsted suits.
$22—for $22 heavy worsted suits.
$23—for $23 heavy worsted suits.
$24—for $24 heavy worsted suits.
$25—for $25 heavy worsted suits.
$26—for $26 heavy worsted suits.
$27—for $27 heavy worsted suits.
$28—for $28 heavy worsted suits.
$29—for $29 heavy worsted suits.
$30—for $30 heavy worsted suits.
$31—for $31 heavy worsted suits.
$32—for $32 heavy worsted suits.
$33—for $33 heavy worsted suits.
$34—for $34 heavy worsted suits.
$35—for $35 heavy worsted suits.
$36—for $36 heavy worsted suits.
$37—for $37 heavy worsted suits.
$38—for $38 heavy worsted suits.
$39—for $39 heavy worsted suits.
$40—for $40 heavy worsted suits.
$41—for $41 heavy worsted suits.
$42—for $42 heavy worsted suits.
$43—for $43 heavy worsted suits.
$44—for $44 heavy worsted suits.
$45—for $45 heavy worsted suits.
$46—for $46 heavy worsted suits.
$47—for $47 heavy worsted suits.
$48—for $48 heavy worsted suits.
$49—for $49 heavy worsted suits.
$50—for $50 heavy worsted suits.

You have the privilege of buying either a suit or an overcoat and having it "charged"—and paying the bill as it suits you. That's an accommodation we hold out to every buyer—which costs not a penny extra to enjoy.

Saturday's special boys' clothing values.

Every line is a leader—every value as strong as the store has ever been possible to muster. Best boys' clothing department you have ever known in this city—plenty of room to buy—a stock twice as large as last year's—more variety—better styles. The hand of quality is visible everywhere—there's nothing, no matter how low priced, from which satisfaction is missing. Read the special values:

Boys' kneepantsuits, $1.29 Boys' knee pants, 15c. pr.

A lot of boys' good durable knee pants suits, in all the latest styles, made of the best material, reinforced and given additional strength where strength is most needed—these are worth more than $2.50 each. We offer for $1.29.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed with the large, large buttons that are now so stylish—finished in the silk, velvet collars and wide facings—such garments as you'll find selling at $5 elsewhere here for $3.98.

Boys' $6 top coats, $3.98.

A lot of boys' stylish top coats, made of fine blue serge, lined with navy blue velvet, and trimmed